Business Challenge

Managing thousands of logistical processes per month and having more than five remote departments, made it impossible for our client to support their growing business, without a BPM solution that has strong process automation functionalities. More than 4,500 emails were being exchanged each month with clients, forcing employees to track the progress of customer transactions manually via phone calls and emails. As a result, the business needed a remote process automation and workflow management tool to monitor critical information flow, give transparency to the entire process and provide a built-in communication facility.
